EDITOR'S REPORT:

Will Your Set Be Obsolete?

This is National Jitters Week.

Most everyone in television has a bad case. They've had them before in the early days when they faced opening night problems, lack of talent, an acute shortage of advertisers. Now it's something else: UHF channels.

UHF is not as mysterious as it looks. It means ultra high frequency, space which may be allocated by the Federal Communications Commission for new television stations. At the present time, Chicago channels operate in VHF, or very high frequency channels. Because of the amazing growth of TV in 1948, the VHF region is exhausted and no more stations can be given permits to operate unless the F.C.C. decides to open up UHF.

Your present television receiver may become obsolete, if such is the case.

However, video experts and commission-ers of the F.C.C. are seeking to prevent this. We've been told in earlier issues about the current freeze ordered by the F.C.C. which has stopped action on any applications for the construction of video stations throughout the nation.

Last week, while in Washington, D.C., we attempted to learn what decision will be made, to inform our readers in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan. No one wants to see their TV set become obsolete. We did learn a number of things:

(1) An entirely new type of televi-sion receiver would be necessary to receive UHF channel programs.

(2) Manufacturers of sets want the current freeze called off.

(3) A plan to initiate UHF in rural and small town areas, and the continuance of VHF in big cities, or a combination of the two, has been submitted to the commis-sion.

Whatever is decided, it is necessary the freeze end soon, most television experts feel if any progress is to be made in 1949. If a combination of UHF and VHF is put into use, the situation may ease.

This gloomy state of affairs thus far has not seriously hampered the sale of TV sets in Chicago and surrounding suburbs. Further, video is now flexing its muscle and dealing hard-felt blows to radio. In New York and Hollywood, the rush is on—actors, producers, agencies—all wishing to climb aboard the Television Bandwagon.

As 1949 ends its first month, radio is entering a knock-down-drag-out feud with video. Elsewhere in this issue you'll read stories of big-name personalities that now appear on network shows.

Because video is big, the UHF and VHF problem will be solved. It should not be solved by the recommendation that present set owners buy a con-verter. Chicagoans can still recall the early days of radio, and the dissatisfaction gained from clumsy, ineffective converters. Nor should they have to stand the expense of purchasing any such device.

We hope to be able to report an answer next week. Answer or no answer, fact-finding representatives of Television Forecast will continue to seek information relative to current, pertinent questions.

Arthur Godfrey Show Slated for WGN-TV

If you want to see the "barefoot boy of radio" who has now gone television, then tune in channel 9, WGN-TV Wednesday, Jan. 26 for some homely patter from Arthur Godfrey and His Friends. A new CBS program relayed directly from New York, Godfrey will present an hour of variety with vocalist Janette Davis, Bill Lawrence, the Mariners quartet, and Archie Bleyer's orchestra.

Back in 1929, Baltimore radio fans first heard Godfrey billed as "Red Godfrey, the Warbling Banjoist." That was on an amateur show. Since then, Big Red has been a disc jockey, dish washer, taxi driver, sailor, coal miner, lumberjack, cook, cemetery lot salesman, teacher, singer, and station manager, all the while gathering earthy and appealing stories that have given him a large national following.

A little skeptical about TV, Godfrey has made it known he is not deserting radio for a few thousand televisers but might in less than a year find the situation reversed. (See page 3).

WENR-TV Uses New Balowstar Lens

Dr. Frank G. Back, the one man in TV who knows more about Zoomar lens, has developed and put into use the revolutionary Balowstar lens, 16 times faster than any yet used with the image orthicon camera employed to telecast video programs.

Chicago TV fans who last Thursday witnessed the Presidential Inauguration over WENR-TV (ABC) saw the Balowstar in action, operating on seven-eighths of a candlepower.

Described as a seven-inch 1.3 wide-angle telescopic lens, employing far fewer than the 28 separate lens now used in the Zoomar (also developed by Dr. Black), the Balowstar obviates the necessity of using infra-red lighting in televising dark areas. Thus another step has been made in the attempt to assure Chicago audiences of better pictures.
LANNY ROSS, star of the Swift Show on NBC video, and Susan Shaw, enjoy a rest between scenes. Lanny will be seen Thursday, Jan. 27 on WNBQ, channel 5.

"Star Time" Interprets
Music in New Medium

Ever wonder if disc jockeys would invade television?

Ever hope someone would do something about it? This week when you view Star Time on WBKB, channel 4, you'll see and hear a new type of musical presentation designed for end-of-day enjoyment by John Dunham, staff member.

While dreamy, soothing music is played Dunham speaks to televectors and on the screen symbolic interpretations by artist Jack Strausberg are shown.

Star Time will be seen Sunday, Jan. 30.

Use New System

Carrier synchronization, a new system developed for TV to eliminate co-channel interference, is now in use between New York NBC and Washington, D.C., and is expected to be put into operation this week in Chicago. Interference between stations operating on the same channel was one of the reasons for the current F.C.C. freeze on TV station applications.

Take a Trip Through Paris Salons via TV
By PATRICIA COOPER

Many, many weeks ago we predicted Chicago women would be able to select fashionable gowns of their choice via video, thereby revolutionizing the industry and changing the regular, daily habits of the fairer sex.

The time has come: January 30, and each Sunday thereafter, we will take a trip through a leading fashion salon of Paris. NBC's new Chicago station, on channel 5, will present the "Paris Cavalcade of Fashions," and have signed the winsome Faye Emerson, wife of Elliott Roosevelt, as commentator.

Miss Emerson is presently being seen on Broadway as the co-star of New York's latest success, "The Play's the Thing." She is well known for her interest in dramatic fashions, and should be charming on television.

We have seen this particular NBC feature in New York during a recent visit and find it extremely popular amongst eastern students of fashion and art schools, because the films go directly into exclusive salons. Produced by World Video's staff of noted cameramen, the films are of the highest quality, and reproduce well on the average screen.

More and more, the accent is on shows for women, and it is expected that as soon as the coaxial cable time mixups are settled, Chicago will be able to have longer daytime programming for homemakers.

Another First! WGN-TV and WNBQ to Telecast Broadway Revue Friday

“Broadway Revue,” heralded as TV’s first full-scale Broadway musical review, will be telecast starting Friday, Jan. 28 from 7 to 8 p.m. on WGN-TV and WNBQ, using the combined facilities of the DuMont and NBC video networks.

Sponsored by Admiral, the show will star Sidney Caesar, with Mary McCarty-Imogene Cocoa and the dance team of Gower and Champion. The lineup is the answer to the statement by Ross Siragusa, president of Admiral, who said “People buy television sets for one reason—to be entertained. We are going to bring to the living rooms the best Broadway has to offer.”

There may be a debate as to what is Broadway’s best, and whether Chicago can top it, but “Broadway Revue” will be the first continuing TV show organized as a permanent stock company with its own technical and production staff.

Originating in the New York International Theatre, the program will be produced and directed by Max Liebman, discoverer of Danny Kaye, Betty Garret and Jerome Robbins. Mel Tolkin and Lucille Kallen will collaborate for special lyrics and sketches, and Charles Sanford will be musical director.

Frederick Fox, set designer for some well-known theatre productions, will be in charge of the show’s scenery, and Broadway veterans Paul Dupont and James Starbuck will handle costumes and choreography.

Each Friday night, a completely new show will be seen on channel 5 and 9, simultaneously. The production will be telecast over 24 stations in 16 cities, and teletranscribed for delayed presentation in 14 additional cities not yet served by coaxial cable, thereby reaching every city in the nation with video facilities.

Schedule Western Pics

Cowboy fans take note: here is the schedule for Tex Ritter westerns to be seen on WBKB Saturday nights at 8 o’clock. Jan. 29, “Man From Texas”; Feb. 5, “The Pioneers”; Feb. 12, “Rainbow Over the Range.”

WBKB Expands News Services

To provide newsflashes for the busy televiwer, WBKB is offering a Mid-Week News Review and Week-End Deadline featuring Ulmer Turner, staff editor and member of the Sun-Times. The review can be seen and heard Wednesday, Jan. 26 at 7 p.m.; the weekend roundup at 7:50 p.m., Saturday, Jan. 29.

Multiscope on Screen

The first daytime news programming on channel 4 is at 1:05 p.m. when Ticker Tape News is Multiscoped for one hour, a service to be expanded to two hours in the near future.

Cue for Ulmer Turner

When you see the WBKB telecamera and Sun-Times news camera, it’s a signal for more news bulletins from Ulmer Turner. Monday through Friday, Turner telecasts at 5:58 p.m.
Video Has Problems! — Needs Teamwork

By HARRY BIRCH
Following TV Cameraman

Problems in television? None at all. Television is a cinch. You just eat aspirin all day, drink all night, get numb and stay that way. When you can't feel a thing you know you're a television veteran.

But, to get serious for a moment and call forth an old cliche—there are problems in video; terrific problems; and the only answer to them is—teamwork. No single man is responsible for a good production either in the studio or at a remote location. A good production is the combined work of a huge assembly line of talented people.

Camera Crews Top Problem

And camera crews are perhaps the biggest problem of all in television. New stations are discovering just how important camera work is. Our staff here, which, incidentally, I will stack up with any in the industry today, has been together since 1945. In fact, our two camera girls, Esther Rojewski and Rae Stewart, have been behind cameras since 1943. And to everyone's amazement they still haven't turned gray . . .

Back in the early days the big problem was to get enough light on a remote event such as wrestling. We had to get enough "foot candles" on the ring to get a picture and still not melt the wrestlers. We worked with cumbersome iconoscope cameras which were far less sensitive to light than modern image orthicons. But when we did get image orthicons we got models that weighed somewhere in the neighborhood of 7,000 pounds!—In dry weather, that is.

Reduce Light Needed

However, at least we could cool off a little when the show went on. Where the old-fashioned iconoscope cameras required between 900 and 1100 "foot candles" of light, the newer orthicons could deliver an acceptable picture on fewer than 50 "foot candles."

You simply can't walk in on five minutes' notice, make a set-up and start shooting. Cameras must be warmed up for many minutes before a show. The camera must be moved constantly before, during and after a show so that an image will not be burned into the super-sensitive plate. It is a bit upsetting at public events to hear people comment to each other as we keep the cameras mobile:

"Why is he moving the camera back and forth like that?"

"Oh, it's probably his first job and he's nervous."

Lists Remote Firsts

Speaking of remotes, let it be said for the record that the ulcer-scarred, battle-worn, but still eager crew at WBKB did the first: wrestling, boxing, baseball, college and pro football, college and pro basketball, girls' night baseball, indoor polo, water polo, rodeo, live stock exposition, midget races, horse races, harness races, roller skate derby, national golf tournaments, ice hockey, table tennis, tennis, swimming . . . well, let's stop here and save paper.

Also, I am a little proud of one hectic afternoon that we cameramen like to brag about (but wouldn't want to repeat), and that is the infamous afternoon a year ago that we did a double-header at Cubs park, a feature race at Arlington park and harness races from Maywood park that night!

Sirs:

I've stopped reading those phoney polls in the daily newspaper. How can anyone decide one program is more popular than the other by telephoning 100 TV set owners? It's just so much gobbledygook.

Chicago, Ill.  ERNEST MADSSEN

Ed. Note: Reader Madsen may be right. We don't believe in any polls but our own, carefully made by phoning as many as 1500 subscribers, seldom less than 500.

Sirs:

Why must boxers who look alike always wear the same color trunks? . . . In N. Y. it is compulsory to wear black trunks in one corner, and white in the other . . . . Please see that something is done as it is driving me nuts!

Chicago, Ill. ROBERT BOEHM

Sirs:

My landlord refuses to allow any more TV antennae on the roof of his 36 apartment building. One is already up there. Why can't we (and other tenants with TV sets) attach our antenna lead-in wires to that antenna?

Chicago, Ill. A. C. MARAZICK

Ed. Note: A special antenna for such purposes is being designed. However, it is possible a good serviceman might be able to rig up such an arrangement with existing equipment.

Sirs:

. . . Of all the days in the week, why is Saturday the one with the poorest schedule?

Chicago, Ill. STANLEY DOLBIN

Sirs:

. . . I can do without television movies, at least 'til they learn how to light them properly.

TV Encourages Young Actors

Television is fulfilling a more predominant role in encouraging young actors and actresses to build their futures in Chicago and the mid-west than any other medium in the past decade, according to Fred Kilian, director of television programming for Station WENR-TV and mid-west TV network of the American Broadcasting company.

Saturday, January 29 you'll see Stand by for Crime; Sunday, January 30 the ABC Television Players. An average of forty roles must be filled monthly in these two productions alone. In addition, four actors and actresses are employed weekly in our new Second Guesser comedy quiz program.

Kilian, who produces the Television Players, regards the actors and actresses who participate in these programs as comprising what amounts to an informal stock company.

Geo. Bauer Wins Feminine Viewers

George J. Bauer, 6' 3"., is Chicago's "Gorgeous George" of television. Not to be confused with that wrestling character from the West Coast, Bauer is the newest WGN-TV staff announcer.

George's early youth was spent in St. Louis and its environs, including high school in Webster Groves, Mo. His prep days were followed by a journalism course at the University of Missouri, and George in turn was followed by most of the campus cuties! While working on his degree, he spent much of his free time at KFRU, the local station.

George professionally entered radio in 1942 as an announcer at WMBD, Peoria—the training ground, incidentally, for WGN-TV's Jack Brickhouse. George and Jack also have a mutual indulgence—sleep! Both have attributed a few cases of absenteeism from the microphone to that old demon Morpheus.

Following his Peoria performances, George picked up his six-plus frame and moved to Chicago in May, 1945, to begin announcing duties at WGN. And there he's been ever since. He started his TV work this summer as relief announcer, and has now been assigned to regular video staff duty.

Predict $2 Billion Video Industry

William S. Hedges, vice president of NBC’s planning and development, this week predicted that within the next five years television “may well prove to be a two billion dollar industry.” He said he based that total on an annual set production of 4,000,000 at an average retail price of $350 per set for a total of $1,400,000,000, plus $600,000,000 for the sale of time and talent.

Hedges also said, “The five years between 1949 and 1954, including time, talent, set manufacturing and investment in transmitters will total between eight and ten billion dollars and television alone will be responsible for the employment of more than 1,000,000 people.”

“However,” he added, “that may be the smaller part of television’s contribution to the economy of the nation, for its very existence will stimulate the movement of billions of dollars worth of merchandise or services.
